

'Future Places and Spaces'

Landscape Institute Northern Ireland

Monday 1st June 2015 · 9.30am - 4.30pm
QUB, Riddel Hall, 185 Stranmillis Road, Belfast BT9 5EE

Landscape Institute Northern Ireland is convening a one-day conference to stimulate and inform government clients and decision makers by providing an informative review and critique of current and past practice and projects, and a vision and ambition for the future.

Who should attend?

Those who commission, deliver and manage places and spaces in the built environment in Northern Ireland, Britain and Ireland: central and local government, landscape architects, architects, planners, environmental practitioners, students and professionals, and VIP guests.

Topics that will be covered

- Overview of the potentials and benefits of an informed visioning, decision-making and procurement approach relating to integrated design and management of the environment.
- The client vision, role and responsibility relating to commissioning, delivering, managing and maintaining high quality public landscape projects integral with delivery of all objectives.
- The landscape approach as an integral consideration of planning, implementation and management policy and practice.
- Raising the level of client and users expectations relating to the profession and practice of landscape architecture.
- A review of public landscape projects in Northern Ireland, Britain, Ireland and internationally.
- A critical review of Northern Ireland's existing places and spaces as an informative tool for those responsible for the procurement, implementation and management of our places and spaces in the future.
